WHY INSPECTION OCCURS

WA State Department of Labor and Industries, Department of Occupational Safety and Health (DOSH) does not need a specific reason to come inspect premises.

Common reasons for inspection include:

- Serious on-the-job accidents involving hospitalization of one or more employees
- Observation of an unsafe act or condition by an L&I compliance officer or consultant
- Response to complaint launched by an employee or employee representative

HOW PRE-INSPECTION HELPS

- Providing insight into common School District violations
- Reviewing incident details, and offering best practice recommendations
- Ensure compliance with L&I DOSH safety regulations
- On-Site support during inspection day
- Citation reduction potential

L&I INSPECTION PROCESS

- Initial contact and evaluation of the accident, or reported safety violation
- Interviews may occur with injured employees, witnesses, supervisors, or others
- Request for information and documentation, before, during, and after investigation
- Issue of appropriate citations and required corrective actions - A timeline is provided for implementation of corrective action or appeal submission
